

SAUNTERINGS
From Where The West Begins.

By JOHN T. MEYERS.
For The Sea Coast Echo.

TODAY, the 22nd, is the shortest day of the year and marks the first day of winter. The day may be shortest on the calendar, but seems mighty long to youngsters patiently awaiting arrival of a jolly, old man loved by children the world over. A radiogram to this newspaper from the North Pole informs that Santa's big sled is packed and Santa is just about ready to start on his yearly journey.

A SPELL of unseasonable warm weather holding sway in Texas was broken during last week end. First snow of the year fell in northern parts of the State. Chilling blasts of a sudden, dry, northerly swooped down on San Antonio early Sunday. Near freezing temperature prevailed Monday morning.

SANTA CLAUS and poor children have a loyal friend in Fire Chief J. G. Saran, of the S. A. Fire department. Each year the chief issues a call for dolls and toys cast aside in more fortunate homes. The toys are repaired and painted by firemen, and dolls redressed by their wives. Many poor children are made happy when the kindly firefighters distribute these renewed toys on Christmas eve.

AMUSING to watch dutiful hubbies, loaded down with Xmas packages, trailing wives on shopping tours in crowded stores. Nine times out of ten the bundles are spilled over the floor before the exit is reached—and hubby loses the Christmas spirit then and there.

A friend, recent purchaser of a brand new Chevrolet, chuckles over the fact Mr. Ford, the salesman who turned the deal.

CHAMPION outdoor race drivers and enthusiasts from wide spread parts of the country are arranging to take part in the William Randolph Hearst regatta to be held at McQueeney Lake, near San Antonio on December 31st and January 1st. More than 100 speed boats have definitely entered. Cups and large cash prizes will be awarded. The regatta is under the auspices of the Texas Boat Club of San Antonio, and will surpass any before attempted in the south.

POST office employees must furnish answers to a thousand and one foolish questions a day. It is just part of the day's work they say. A ducky with a 3-cent piece dated 1874 wasn't sure that a coin so old would still be honored by Uncle Sam for purchase of a stamp. It was all the money he had. The colored gent hated to part with the relic, he said, "but that 'high yellow' gal in Dallas was 'worth' it, boss."

HUNTING rabbits by automobile at night is a thrilling sport enjoyed by cowboys down on the ranches. Armed with a 22 caliber rifle, the marksman straddles the hood of the car, and shoots the rabbit as the driver darts hither and thither in hot pursuit of the fleeing hare. It is no sport for a person with tender nerves, when the wild and woolly driver warms up to the chase and begins cutting sharp corners and leaping across deep ditches.

MANY local art students journey into the country on Sundays and holidays to sketch and paint nature's beauty spots that abound here. An artist at work presents an example of profound concentration as they sit for hours before an easel, dexterously laboring with brush and paint to reproduce nature's handiwork on canvass. A real artist dislikes interruption, and snoopy peep-over-shoulder spectators.

LADY GOES TO LAST REWARD

Mrs. F. P. Cassidy Passed
Away Last Thursday Evening
After Long Siege Illness.

A sweet and loving mother, a devoted wife and a sainted woman passed away at her home in State street Thursday evening, just after the sun had sunk below the western horizon and gilded the heavens with gold and bronze intermingled with shades of pink and other blended hues. As the day passed and its light had gently faded away, the life of Mrs. F. P. Cassidy passed on peacefully and beautifully.

Mrs. Cassidy had been seriously stricken about two years previously, even though yet a young woman. She had striven hard to become better and it was largely to her will power she surmounted obstacles and rose and was out from what at first thought her death bed. Her courage was inspiring. Her determination had its reward. She rallied from the severity of the stroke that fell her to that degree that she was able to get out and with aid did well. But her ailment was obstinate and recurring she finally became the victim of complication and the inevitable was not to be fought further.

The remains were taken to Fahy funeral parlor and shipped to Summit, Miss., the morning following and where they were interred in Woodlawn cemetery, the Rev. C. C. Mulvihill officiating. The funeral took place from the home of the deceased's sister, Miss Ethyl McCleary, one of the two sisters, with four brothers who survive.

In addition Mrs. Cassidy is survived by her husband, a business man and citizen of Bay St. Louis, and one daughter, Miss Patricia Cassidy. She was a native of Summit, Miss., born October 2, 1888, and was, at the time of her passing away, 45 years and two months. She was of the Catholic faith and was buried with the ceremony and blessing of that church and faith.

Mr. Cassidy and his young daughter have the sincerest sympathy of the community in this hour when the shadow has fallen in hue and depth the deepest.

Senator Jno. Lumpkin To Be Here Friday On Official Business

Senator John Lumpkin, residing in Pearl River county, and representing this senatorial district, addresses the following to the people of Hancock county:

"I will be in Bay St. Louis, Friday, December 29, for the purpose of discussing local and private legislation and get your views on any general legislation that you may be interested in."

Senator Lumpkin will be about town, will visit the courthouse and other places and will be more than glad to discuss matters with one and all.

Girl Scout Troop Presents Christmas Pageant; Gives Toys

Jolly Old Santa Claus really came to nearly a hundred children at Bay High auditorium Tuesday night, when the Girl Scouts gave their Pageant and Christmas tree. The girls were lovely in their soft colored robes, grouped about the lighted tree as the carolers sang the beautiful hymns of Christmas time, with Mrs. Katherine Thomas playing the violin obligato. The Scouts and their leaders are grateful to all who helped them, especially, Santa Claus and the "Rinky Dinks."

Pay Subscription To Local Newspaper With Accumulation of Pennies

Here is a suggestion for newspaper subscribers. A few pennies and mostly good will and determination will accomplish this clever and practical thought. We pass it on to Echo readers.

Last year the Nashua, (Iowa) Reporter, published by G. E. Ellison, had a subscriber who paid for the paper in pennies saved up from time to time, as she happened to have them. An item was made of the fact and immediately others came in the same way—said they had deposited the pennies in a cop from day to day and soon found the amount necessary to pay for the paper, which they were glad to turn in, without missing about a bushel of pennies last fall.

PLEA FOR A SAFE AND SANE CHRISTMAS; TO PREVENT FIRES

Holiday Hazards Are Numerous—Fire, That is Easily Preventable, Greatest Of All.

Fires—Falls—Fun. Here are the three great accident hazards of Christmas. Each year they take a toll in life, health and property that is the more horrible because it can be so easily avoided.

Of all, fire is perhaps the greatest and most common hazard. Special rules, simple enough in themselves, and yet often broken, apply to the holiday season. Candles should not be used either on the tree or in windows. All tree decorations should be non-inflammable. Those made of celluloid, cotton and paper should be avoided or kept at a sizeable distance from flames. Electric lights for the tree should be of good make and of not more than one five-candle power. The wiring should be carefully inspected before it is used. Lastly, the tree should be kept away from any fireplace and should be removed from the house within the week following Christmas. After that, the needles dry out and become highly inflammable.

Care and caution will eliminate the "holiday falls." Under the heading of fun hazards are listed accidents caused by dangerous toys and unwise methods of celebrating. Sharp knives, tin horns with ragged corners, air rifles, tool kits containing sharp instruments—these and similar articles, when given to children too small to use them properly, invite disaster. It's easy to have a safe Christmas and it's a lot of more fun. Plan yours that way.

LASTING SONG TEAMS TURN OUT HIT TUNES REGULARLY FOR FILMS

Permanent Pairings of Writers Ends Chance Team Work

One of the outstanding changes made in song writing methods by motion picture musicals has been that of creating permanent song-writing teams, Arthur Johnston, of the Paramount studios music department, points out.

Johnston and Sam Coslow, who wrote the songs for "Hello Everybody" and "College Humor," worked together on the songs for Paramount's first elaborate film musical of the new season, "Too Much Harmony," which comes to the A. & G. Theater Sunday and Monday. Other teams at the same studio are Ralph Rainger and Leo Robin, and the recently signed Mack Gordon and Harry Revel writers of "Stormy Weather."

Other noted song-writing teams are Rogers and Hart, Brown and Henderson, Warren and Dubin, and Donaldson and Kahn.

For "Too Much Harmony," Johnston and Coslow have written eight new tunes, titled, "Thanks," "Buckin' the Wind," "Cradle Me with a Hot-Cha Lullaby," "Black Moonlight," "Boo-Boo-Boo," "The Day You Came Along," "The Two Aristocrats" and "I Guess I Had To Be That Way." In the cast of the picture, which was directed by Edward Sutherland, are Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie, Skeets Gallagher, Judith Allen, Harry Green, Lilyan Tashman and Ned Sparks.

"In the old days," Johnston declares, "if I worked out a tune, I would offer it to the first lyric writer I ran across, and he would turn out the melodies. Lyricists worked the same way, creating a poem and handing it over to a song-writer."

"But in Hollywood, that team system was evolved, and it has worked astonishingly well. The composer and lyric writer, working together, constantly turn out better songs, than either would alone, or under a haphazard teaming that isn't scheduled to last."

DEC. 27TH. TO MARK OCCASION

At St. Augustine Seminary
—Three Seminarians to Receive Last Order
Before Priesthood

On Wednesday morning, December 27, the feast of St. John the Apostle, three seminarians of St. Augustine's Seminary will receive Deaconship from his Excellency, the Most Reverend Richard O. Gerow, D. D., Bishop of Natchez, Miss. His Excellency will celebrate a Pontifical High Mass at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. During the mass the three seminarians will be made deacons. Previous to the conferring of Deaconship, His Excellency will give the Tonsure to two other seminarians, who are in their first theology course.

Last Order Before Priesthood. This ordination to Deaconship on Wednesday, December 27, is the last order before the Priesthood. Needless to say, this is a day on which the Society of the Divine Word and the faculty of St. Augustine's have true cause to rejoice, for they see in this day another answer to their fondest hopes and fervent prayers. The crowning point will be reached, when in the spring of 1934 these young men will be raised to the dignity of the Holy Priesthood. They will then go forth as missionaries, who have heard the Divine Call—the call to be one of God's priests—to carry to those of their brethren the glad tidings of the true gospel.

FIELDS of Endeavor. The Society of the Divine Word is a missionary order of vast proportion established in every part of the world, whose main purpose is to bring the divine word of the gospel to foreign and home missions and to render assistance in dioceses where special missionary work is needed. The Fathers of the Divine Word, who are conducting the Seminary in Bay St. Louis are not only working here, but have besides 10 well established missions in the Southern States.

There are five in the state of Mississippi, namely: Bay St. Louis, Vicksburg, Jackson, Meridian and Greenville. In Louisiana they have two missions, one at Pointe a la Hache, and the other at Belle Chasse; besides that they conduct The Holy Rosary Institute at Lafayette. In Arkansas they have a mission at Pine Bluff, Little Rock and North Little Rock. Another one is in St. Louis, Missouri. All these establishments and missions are for the colored. In the near future the Society of the Divine Word will send the first fruits of St. Augustine's Seminary—a colored clergy—to labor and continue the work of evangelization among the colored people.

DOUBLE DANCE PROGRAM

Xmas To Be Celebrated at Uncle Charlie's Saturday
And Christmas Eve
Night

In order to observe and celebrate Christmas in the spirit of jollity and festivity, Uncle Charlie's Nite Club management announces a double or two-night program for the weekend.

Saturday night will take the place of the regular weekly dance and a special event there will be a similar dance on the eve of Christmas, December 24.

C. A. Breath, Sr., proprietor and manager states that this is in reply to a general demand, not only from at home but from patrons residing away, particularly along the coast section. Christmas eve night is always an occasion when the average person wishes to "go places," hence this dance. It will be welcome and many will attend. A large attendance will be an appreciation of Mr. Breath's efforts to serve the community and to give the pleasure-loving public that which they desire.

THE "HIGH COST" OF GASOLINE MADE SO BY BURDEN OF TAXATION

Oil Industry Offering Cheap Gasoline—Tax Boosters, However, Make It Expensive.

Gasoline, by comparison with 1913 price levels, is one of the cheapest commodities on the American market, even in this time of bankrupt prices. A good many motorists may give that statement a Bronx cheer, but it's a fact, as the commodity cost increases will prove. When we attack the high cost of gasoline, we are misnaming it—it should be called the high cost of gasoline taxation.

In the average state, at the moment, the gas tax accounts for six to eight cents of the cost of each gallon. In some states it comes to appreciably more than that. And gas sales tax isn't the end of the matter by a long shot. Every operation and product of the oil industry is taxed in one way or another. The industry pays two taxes to the Federal government, 68 to state governments, and 19 to municipalities.

When the motorist buys a dollar's worth of gasoline he gets perhaps half or two-thirds as much as he would if the tax collector was not so busy bailing out the bank. Once, to be sure, gas tax revenue was spent on roads, but that day is past. The motorist now pays for roads and he pays for fisheries and schools and a lot of other things—things which should be paid for by all taxpayers, and not one class.

The oil industry is offering cheap gasoline. The tax boosters are making it extremely expensive gasoline. That's where matters stand—and where they will continue to stand until the motorist rebels at paying exorbitant tax tribute.

Radio As A Salesman, A Flop, Says Roxy.

Seven million radio fans have written to Roxy—S. L. Rothafel—and because of this fact he is regarded as being something of an oracle. Hence, more than usual weight is attached to his opinions quoted from Radio Mirror:

"Radio is shy on showmanship. This is the fault of the patronizing sponsors. Imagine, if you can, a theatrical director routing his entertainment so that three singing sisters acts follow one another." Commenting upon the alleged "war" between newspapers and radio the master of the nationally famous "Gang," has this to say:

"As a direct sales agency radio is a flop. And the sooner the sponsors realize it, the sooner they'll eliminate the plethora of commercial advertising that is stuffed into the ears of potential patrons. Radio is the greatest builder of good will. But that good will may be destroyed by irritating interruptions of a program to plug a product. The very purpose of the broadcast may be thwarted by lack of discernment, lack of showmanship."

"If I were a merchant I would ad-

PIONEER TEACHER PASSES ON

Mrs. Cecessia Doby, After
54 Years Teaching, Gives Up Life's Work—At Rest

It is with sadness and regret that we chronicle the death of one so dear to us as Mrs. Doby. She had been ill only a few days, her death was a shock to the community.

After 17 years of teaching at Kiln Vocational High School she resigned her position at the close of the 1932-1933 session to reside in Picayune with her two daughters, who are in business there.

In all her years of teaching there, she never missed a class, for a number of years she has been superintendent of the primary department, however, she taught grade and high school work, her experience being such that she was in a position to aid and sympathize with all the teachers and students. In her class room she voiced the innermost feeling of her heart, it was there she poured forth words of love and encouragement to all the students.

Mrs. Doby spent 54 years of her life teaching school in New Orleans, and Hancock county. Mrs. Doby was 71 years old, born and reared in New Orleans, she was graduated from Ursuline Convent, and completed her education at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn. For 15 years she served as teacher in McDonogh No. 13 and 14, in New Orleans, in recognition of her work there, she was presented with a handsome silver set.

Funeral services were conducted at St. Charles Catholic church at Picayune by Father Dennis of Kiln, her former pastor, assisted by Father Schmeisser of Lumberton, Miss. Interment was in the Pearlington cemetery.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY HOLDS MEET AT MRS. E. S. DRAKE'S

Annual Election of Officers;

Heads Society For 1934.

Mrs. E. S. Drake was hostess to the Woman's Missionary Society on Tuesday, December 19, for the regular monthly meeting.

The meeting opened with the singing of "O, Little Town of Bethlehem," with Mrs. Drake at the piano. The opening prayer was given by Mrs. J. E. Gray.

After the scripture reading by the President Mrs. Chas. Mitchell the topic "Hiroshima Girls School" was given in a most interesting manner by Mrs. Heiderman.

Mrs. Fred Wright read in her usual simple, charming manner the poem, "Holy Child of Bethlehem." Closing prayer, Mrs. C. C. McDonald.

Mrs. Joyner, chairman of Dec. Com., reported $20.50 made on Bazaar held on Friday December 15.

Mrs. J. A. Evans, who assisted in the gathering and selling of pecans given the society by Mrs. R. P. Hyams, reported net proceeds from sale of these having reached $100.00. The society deeply appreciates Mrs. Hyams' most generous gift.

Result of election of officers is as follows:

Vice President—Mrs. D. James.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. E. S. Drake.

To Enforce Parking Regulations For City Of Gulfport, Miss.

Strict enforcement of the parking regulations of the city traffic laws in Gulfport went into effect Tuesday morning.

The traffic order for parking permits only one-hour parking on certain streets and avenues in the downtown business district and a fifteen-minute time limit of a certain space in front of the Hancock County Bank at 13th street and 26th avenue.

The "no parking" space in front of the Paramount theater will also be strictly enforced, Chief Cruttrids stated.

The one-hour limit includes the following zones:

Fourteenth street from 24th avenue to 27th avenue, 26th avenue from 13th street to 14th street, 13th street north side from 26th avenue to 27th avenue, east side of 27th avenue, east side of 27th avenue from 13th street to 14th street and 25th avenue from 13th street to the L. & N. railroad.

The one-hour parking limit is effective daily from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Chief Cruttrids stated.

Parking regulations in Gulfport have been of no import, enforcement entirely disregarded. The foregoing now and in future will be of vital interest to the many Bay St. Louis cars seen daily parked in the business section of Gulfport.

STALLING OR POLITICS?

THE New Orleans Item, dated December 8, carries a short but significant editorial under the appropriate heading of "Shortline Stalling?" The editorial is timely and the position well taken. Hardly a day passes unless some new project by the Mississippi Highway Commission is announced while the most important link of all, Miss.-La., Shortcut through Hancock county is apparently sadly neglected.

Louisiana is spending a million dollars or more while Mississippi seems afflicted with extreme inertia in the matter of a paltry sum regarding the immediate completion of the shortcut. Mississippi highway commission claims it is waiting on federal authority survey to define the route. It might look like politics to many, or possibly, simply "stalling."

The Item's editorial follows:
We note the letting of four more highway contracts in Mississippi. But we don't note that Mississippi's little connecting-link for the Shortline to the Gulfcoast is among them. Why does the Mississippi Highway Commission not stop stalling on this little job for the biggest and most beneficial highway improvement now open to these two states? We remarked some weeks ago that we could imagine no reason except some conflict between rival real-estate owners with political pull, over the location of this little stretch of road. If that be not the reason, what is? Why is this road not put under way?

TAKE TIME TO LEARN.

THE American people are passing through strenuous days. Outward forms are being changed, new governmental agencies are being perfected, and one must be on the alert to keep up with the changing processes.

How many citizens know the difference between the Civil Works Administration and the Public Works Administration, both extremely busy at the present time trying to provide employment for millions out of work?

There are many other new agencies, most of which are designed by letters, such as the R. F. C., the T. V. A., the A. A. A. and so on, not to mention the most widely known one of all, the N. R. A. While punsters may use these letters to make jokes about, their activities represent the salvation of the American people.

Our form of government can only survive if our men and women keep themselves informed and able to pass intelligent judgment upon political questions. Besides, there is no way for a citizen to understand the possible value of his own government to him unless he realizes some of the benefits government offers to him. Our old order is fast changing. The alert reader should try and keep up. Read about these activities, try to understand what they are seeking to accomplish, and then, as a good citizen, cooperate with the efforts being made for your own welfare.

A SCHOOL BUS TRAGEDY.

THE tragedy in Florida, where ten or more school children were killed when a freight train hit a school bus, should remind all those who drive such vehicles to stop at all crossings and exercise unusual precautions.

The death of thousands of motorists during the year fail to excite the same sympathies that are aroused by the sudden demise of these innocent children. Those who drive school busses are under the responsibility of caring for the lives in their charge and should not drive carelessly or take risks.

Of course, every reader regrets the unfortunate plight of the driver of the Florida bus, who was badly hurt, and when informed of the horrible extent of the wreck, expressed a desire to die. However, if the other drivers of the nation will bear in mind that a few minutes lost on the road will not have another accident of this kind.

A HAPPIER CHRISTMAS.

CHRISTMAS day will find the nation, we believe, happier than in several years. After painful suffering, some of which has been behind the veil that pride hangs between an individual and the public, a spirit of hope breathes freely throughout the land. There is a general idea that better days, if not here, are within reach and that the worst is decidedly over.

There are, however, in our midst, even in Bay St. Louis, families and individuals that will need assistance if the Christmas spirit is to be embraced. Let us keep these people in mind, and without undue publicity, let us share our happiness with others.

The trouble with most people is that they are envying what somebody else is getting instead of doing something for themselves.

Our own idea is that the advertiser in Bay St. Louis like the advertiser anywhere else is going to get more than his share of business.

The people of the United States approach this Christmas with much greater hope than for several years, says a writer. We might add that they also have better spirits.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

THE sweet story of the Nativity of Christ, the Saviour, oft told, never grows old but mellows with the gold of time and is ever acclaimed with that spirit born of love and adoration.

The birth of the Redeemer of mankind, most sacred anniversary, with each recurring year is received with devotional zeal and with all sublime emotion of the human heart. This blessed event, outstanding in the annals of Christianity, glorified by the church and faithful adherents, is recalled forcibly particularly at this time—one the eve of Christmas.

It is Christmas-tide. Joyous bells are ringing out the world over. Mary and Joseph have journeyed for miles over the country byways. Mary resting on the back of the docile animal that carries her on, while Joseph, her spouse, follows alongside. Mary is going to become a mother, the Holy Mother. She is patient, benighted and kindly. Joseph is ever solicitous. Arriving at Bethlehem, foot-sore, tired and weary, they find no room at the inn. They repair to humble abode, and while a great Star is shining and three Wise Men are journeying onward, guided by the direction of the luminous body in the heavens, a New King is born!

It is the world's sweetest story. The most significant and one that will live in the hearts of mankind through the ages and down to the very end of time.

Christmas is next Monday, the Eve on the holy Sabbath, two significant days and there is occasion for double joy in observance of so happy and meaningful occasion.

Aside from the religious aspect, Christmas Day carries with it so much of the sentimental. A day we greet our friends with more cordial attitude, for the day is attuned with love and happiness. By our outward emotions we attest to our innermost feelings. Like the three wise men hastening to the place of holy nativity, we, too, as mere mortals, hasten to the crib and there place greater presents than incense and myrrh and caskets of jewels,—renewal of faith, profession of a new born love from depths of enkindled hearts where great store abound an outpouring of tenderest solicitation and in prayerful posture we beg in return that greatest of all gifts, the constant grace of God. We ask it of the son Jesus, for the Father refuseth the Son nothing.

A GAIN in the year, 1933, A. D. we approach the crib. We pay homage, we ask for divine grace. It is a privilege. Happy Day. The Sea Coast Echo wishes for one and all its readers this privilege; that their share of divine grace be abundant and equally as well their temporal and material gains be as plentiful.

That the heart receiveth all that it desireth; that our loved ones be spared for a longer period to dwell in union with our hopes and aspirations; that we become more tolerant; that we be our brother's keeper.

In full and finally, that the advent of the Babe of Bethlehem be the signal for future and more happiness, and that a MERRY CHRISTMAS, as a result, will be the share and portion for each and everyone.

MISSISSIPPI AND THE 'SHORTCUT.'

DELAY on the part of Mississippi in building its connecting link to the Louisiana-Mississippi shortcut is calling forth for inquiry and general dissatisfaction exists. The delay is apparently unreasonable and unpardonable for Mississippi, so far, has broken faith with Louisiana.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune editorially says:

When the plan for the highway "shortcut" from New Orleans to the Mississippi coast began to take definite shape, its backers sought assurance that Mississippi would provide the link connecting its Pearl river crossing with her own coast highway. From Jackson came an official or authoritative promise that the Pearl river-coast connection would be ready by the time the much costlier and more difficult Louisiana sector and the bridges were ready.

That exchange took place "a long while ago." Since then the shortcut highway embankment has been completed through the Louisiana marsh from the Rigolets to the Pearl. Within a few weeks the connecting bridges will be ready, leaving only the surfacing of the road to be provided on this side of the Mississippi line. But across the Pearl river Mississippi's promise of a connecting highway to the coast remains unfulfilled. No route has even been adopted, we are told, because a local wrangle over its selection has been raging and the Mississippi Highway Commission hesitates to make the decision on its own initiative.

The shortcut will serve Mississippians as well as Louisianians. Our coast neighbors want it as much as we do. The deadlock over the Pearl river-coast highway link effects relatively few, but threatens serious inconvenience to thousands if its continuance prevents completion of the shortcut that will serve all. As we understand it, nothing but the local dispute over the choice of routes stands in the way. The cost of the Mississippi link will be moderate and can be met out of the federal emergency fund allotment. The project will provide employment that is needed now. For the service and convenience of their own people as well as ours and the national tourist army's we urge the Mississippi highway authorities to designate the route of their shortcut sector now and start its long overdue construction.

SHOULD WE KILL INCURABLES?

THE story from Toronto, Can., telling of the death of an infant after nine months of suffering from an incurable disease, although the mother begged doctors to end its life, renews the argument between those who would "permit" such acts and those who would not.

There is something to be said on both sides. Man lives by the opinion of his day, and when medical science is sure that no cure is possible useless suffering may be eliminated by death. However, there is always the possibility of a cure and the history of medicine unfolds a tale of the impossible. No man can tell when an incurable disease will become a curable one!

MERELY THEORETICAL

By GEORGE E. SCHILLING
(For The Sea Coast Echo)

MERRY CHRISTMAS.

THE old holiday wish seems to be of irony this year. Too many people are suffering the lack of all those things that we associate with the day. Even those who are still prosperous, if they have any sympathy, must be saddened by the want which they see all about them, and yet cannot relieve.

Materialism is more important on Christmas than we may wish to admit. The day is not complete without a bountiful dinner including turkey, or something just as good, if there is anything quite as good as roast turkey, and including also all of the dainties that tradition couples with the fowl. The little boy had the true connection. When asked whether he had enjoyed his Christmas he beamed and replied: "Did I? Say, I was sick for three days afterwards."

For the children an assortment of toys and other presents is vitally important, and to their elders nothing can be more enjoyable than causing happiness by giving as much as possible to as many as possible. This year few of us are financially able to give presents so expensive as gold, or frankincense, or myrrh, and even simple gifts are a difficult, or an impossible, problem.

The rays of hope come, not so much from the glow of this Christmas as from the brighter gleams of Christmas in years to come. For it is only reasonable to believe that a better day is coming in the future, a day when everyone of us may enjoy all of the material comforts and many luxuries, even that of remembering all of our friends with such gifts as they will appreciate and treasure. The "human miracle" of misery from plenty is too absurd to be permanent.

The new day will not come merely by wishful waiting, but only by hard thinking, intelligent planning, bold experiment and better economic organization. It will come without struggle, without sacrifices, without mistakes and even partial failures. It may not be expected to some as the gift of any one man, still less as the work of any one political party, but only by the determined and courageous efforts of great numbers of men. Nobody can predict the times, nor the exact measures that will lead us into the richer material life. We can yet determine only a few general principles. We can yet see only faint beams of the coming light.

Back of all the material happiness of Christmas is the spiritual significance of the day, with which are firmly linked its moral implications. It there were rich gifts at the first Christmas-tide, there was also a message of good-will, and there was already a promise, which is often overlooked, of social changes. The presents were of royal tribute given to a King. His spirit is absolutely opposed to greed, envy, cruelty, selfishness and all of their manifestations. He is beneficent and constructive just as sin is always and everywhere destructive.

All hope for richer and better Christmases in the future must rest on hope and faith in the principles of justice and mercy. Even under our present economic system all permanent success has been based on honesty and service. If that system has failed us, it is in large part because the old-fashioned virtues have not been enough regarded. "He made a pit and digged it, and is fallen into the ditch which he made. His mischief shall return upon his own head, and his violent dealing shall come down upon his own pate." Our future will be brighter only as we return to the fundamental virtues and add to them a broader social vision than has been at all common. We must think less of the "economic man," concerned only to buy in the cheapest market and sell in the dearest. We must depend more, and more consciously, on Vebel's motives, "idle curiosity, instinct of workmanship, and parental instinct." The problem is fundamentally moral, and also religious, for religion is the strongest force for morality.

Can we do it? Is this prospect of a better economic organization a possibility, or merely a dream? America can do anything it will, and there is good reason to believe that America will be a better life for all of its citizens. Old habits are hard to change, old ways of thinking are even harder. We are puzzled as well as disturbed. We are confused by a multitude of counselors, and by apparent contradictions. We are even somewhat misled by old slogans, half-truths and deliberate deceit. But we are thinking as hard as we can, and thinking is the hardest and most disagreeable work in the world. We have, in spite of all, a vast reservoir of honesty, good will, courage and intelligence to bring about a new and better material life. There is a great determination to find an answer to our problems and to apply that answer in practice, no matter what it may be, or what it may cost. The power and the resolution are here.

And therefore, with all hope, faith and sincerity, we wish you as merry a Christmas as possible this year, with many richer and merrier returns of the day.

CHRISTMAS TIME IN SOUTH CALIFORNIA DESCRIBED BY WRITER

Former Bay Resident Writes Of Holiday Scenes In Stores and About Los Angeles.

The Panorama of Christmas is moving along with Santa, the central figure. Each town has its own style. Fullerton has trees with electric bulbs along Spadra Road. Anaheim, large Raindeer on the lamp posts, bunches of large white bells, in one store window.

Kress's stores all have pink and blue wreaths with bells inside. "Calling Xmas trees flooding the markets." Suggesting the recent much needed downpour.

The stores in Los Angeles are dreams! Diamonds glistening in special places. Wide pins and solitaire rings being the chief fancy. But a guardian hovers near.

In the May Store four windows represent scenes in "Alice in Wonderland." Another store has large dolls and toys and is dedicated to "The Children of California." Walker has Toyland, including Storyland, representing Fairy Stories.

So many lovely articles! I bought a marked down bracelet, but kept it for myself. It was dark amber and only 49c.

The large stores have the Red and Silver scheme. Bullock's had huge white wreaths of Holly tied with red ribbon. The store columns were red and large silver Xmas trees at intervals.

This is certainly the orange center. Orange groves overtake you after going a mile or so.

Quite a contrast to the desert—where the dust is half a foot deep and whirls constantly, with the recurring Santa Ana winds. Its a vast open space; thorny tumble weeds are the chief output; save for solitary Johnathan Palms, Chimpunk and Rabbit burrows.

Returning we saw nothing but the Johnathan Palm. It covered the land and suggesting Palestine in the in the country, as well as in the name. The trees are skeletons of fantastic shapes; having Yucca at branch ends.

Soon, the mountains surround you. The most beautiful place in California. San Fernando, Duluth and Glendale. The last has the largest airport in the west.

About here was the scene of that terrible back-fire tragedy—where so many lost their lives. The Canyon winds making rescue impossible, large bare spaces on the mountain sides indicate the locality. On the Peak a light was burning.

THE CHRISTMAS GIFT.

What gift should Christmas bring to you

Not tinsel folderol anew,
Not hearts all free from sin.
Not gold, silver or diamond gem,
To listen on your breast;
Just Love's bright, holy diadem,
Bringing Peace, Hope and Rest,
Not picture's wishes, stilted, vain,
Upon some Christmas card;
But give an alms to lessen pain
With prayer unto the Lord.
Make children happy for the day,
And teach them Christ's pure love,
Lift up their hearts from earth away,
Unto God's home above.
Give to the world a constant smile,
A kindly word or thought;
Then will Christmas your days beguile,
With lessons Christ has taught.

CHANCERY SUMMONS

Sapling Sayings

(Activities of C. C. C. Camp, Miss.—P-52)

By A. SAP.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS! This is the latest news and scandal that will be dished out by the Sap before Christmas so we are pleased to say Merry Christmas to each and everyone of our many readers, yes both of them. If he is able to survive the holidays that start here in camp December 21-26 inclusive, look for this column to continue on thru the new year, unless someone punches his nose for telling off on them.

Last Friday the monthly camp dance was given and was it GOOD! Well, just ask anyone who was here. It can be truthfully and easily said that the last dance was the best ever given, and one of the best the writer has ever attended and he has been to plenty.

And let us pause here to thank Mrs. Sylvester and Mrs. Anderson, the two ladies who have been so kind as to give their time and help in making our camp dances what they are. Let us also thank the splendid young ladies who attend the dances and contribute so much to our social life.

The hot chocolate, cakes, music, girls, ladies, decorations (done by Kiln and Bay girls), Santa Claus, gifts, all contributed to the excellent time the boys had. Yes sir, Santa Claus, in person, had a gift for each and every person present. And with all that here on one night can anyone doubt that the boys had the time of their life.

Saturday night the First Sgt. could have called the roll at Uncle Charlie's and there would have been very few absentees. Yes, they all reported a fine time and if present reports are true he had better build a larger floor and make more room for his New Year's dance.

Can somebody tell the Sap why "Grinny" Easterling's nickname has been changed to "Tailspring"? Think the name originated Saturday night. And "Pappy" was initiated Saturday night, he is now a member in good standing of the "Shiners Club."

Among the celebrities seen on the floor were two All-Americans Marchmont Schwartz of Notre Dame fame and "Go-Let" Davis of Bama. We know "Marchie" is a real All-American and was picked on all teams throughout the country, but all we have is proof of "Go-Let's" greatness is his own word, but that is good enough for the Sap for he sees nothing and believes all he hears.

Will some of you boys contribute enough next week to get the Sap in Uncle Charlie's. He has never been there and can only believe the reports brought back by the boys who are rich enough to go.

Some have reported from a reliable source that Billie Wells has the marriage license but can't find the girl. Look out Ovet, here comes Billie!

Lt. George Tucker spent the week end in the Bay with his wife and family.

There will be only fifty-four men held in camp during the Xmas holidays for fire fighting. The rest of the boys will be "at home."

The basket ball team defeated Kiln Vocational High School team Saturday to the tune of 45-29. No more news as the boys fell

CORRESPONDENT N. O. NEWSPAPER SAYS COAST HAS 1000 STILL READY

Frank Craigie, Gulfport Correspondent, Writes Morning Tribune Story Apro Pos On Night of Nation's Repeal of 18th Amendment.

A million acres of South Mississippi's cut-over timber lands sit pretty tonight, with prohibition dead.

Along the Gulf Coast, from Lake Shore on the west and Pecan on the east, and from Mississippi sound to the coast's hinterland, 25 to 30 miles back from the seashore, something more than 100 whiskey stills are at work to supply New Orleans with the pure rye whiskey, either in waterwhite or in regular "liquor color" necessary for rectifiers and distillers to bottle and market popular brands, corked, labeled and sealed to suit the consumer.

Distillers are jubilant over a situation that permits them to sell their output in lots of anywhere from one barrel to 100 barrels, without the work of bottling or jugging their output for local consumption.

"Very little of this whiskey will be shipped from here in box cars, hidden under pine lumber or bags ofyster shells," one distiller said. "The New Orleans market can take care of everything that my brothers and I can produce. They pay our price, and they pay spot cash, in large lots and larger shipments. And they do the hauling."

Some distillers and their backers apparently were preparing to color, flavor, bottle and label their product right here on the coast, as one gigantic plant did near Kilm, Mississippi, about seven years ago.

"We can go on to Locust street in New Orleans and buy bottles, corks, labels, cases and everything we need to make Canadian Club whiskey, Gordon Gin, or Hennessy's Three Star Brandy, right here on the Gulf Coast," one operator said today.

"Not only that, but in New Orleans we can buy the electric corking machines that press the cork into the whiskey bottles, and at the same time burn the name of the brand into the top of the cork."

"We can get a machine that feeds the bottles all the way through, gumming the labels, pressing them onto the bottles, putting on the fake United States revenue stamps showing the certified age of the whiskey, usually four years. We can get all that apparatus, bought in New Orleans and brought over here."

"We may choose to send our whiskey in barrels to New Orleans, for them to make it up, but if we choose, we can do the same thing over here. The advantage they have in the big city, is that the market is right there with them, while it is 60 to 70 miles away from us."

Provisionally dry, but truly wet ever since its admission to the Union on December 10, 1817, Mississippi met the repeal of the 18th amendment as a "dry" state by its own statutes. It was dry before the nation went dry. It will remain dry until its Legislature makes it wet.

Nevertheless, there never has been a day when any thirsty man in any community in the state could not buy liquor if he tried.

On the Gulf Coast, and along the Mississippi river, distillers have produced whiskey of one kind or another without let or hindrance, except for sporadic raids of Federal and local officers, whose efforts only made a tiny dent in the structure of a vast and lucrative industry.

On the immediate Gulf coast the pine-woods distillers manufacture a pure rye whiskey, made in the proportion of one bushel of clean rye grain and 50 pounds of pure granulated sugar to whatever a 52-gallon barrel of water may hold in excess of the solid content. Through a process perfected by Gulf Coast distillers within the last few months, this whiskey, by a boiling process, or by an electrical process, where power service is available, may "age" their whiskey in one night, eliminating all fusel oils, and tannic acids, and any other impurities until the product, where flavored and colored with extracts purchased from wholesale drug houses and liquor-supply houses in New Orleans, cannot be detected from the finest imported liquors.

So say the distillers here. With "high class imported whiskeys" quoted on the New Orleans market at fancy prices, beyond the reach of "poor men" distillers here apparently are making an effort to favor their local trade with "aged," flavored and labeled brands at somewhere near their cost.

Normally the purest rye whiskey, before its passage into the aging process, has been bought locally for $3 to $4 a gallon. Some of the "aged" whiskey recently has been offered here for $4.50 a gallon, and for $1.25 a quart. No labeled stock so far has appeared, although dealers here today said they were "entertaining" offers of New Orleans liquor, which they thought mainly was flavored alcohol, bottled and stamped right in the city.

"One thing," a bottler in the Delisle, Bayou section said, "I think New Orleans will take all we can put out, and then holler for more. But Canada and England and Scotland will get credit for it."

Announcing

NEW FORD V-8 for 1934

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The New Ford V-8 for 1934 is now on display at the showrooms of Ford dealers. Surpassing even the great Ford of 1933 in economy, beauty and comfort, it is truly the car of this modern age—the culmination of thirty years Ford progress. It combines the proved performance of the V-8 cylinder engine with two important new features—Dual Carburetion and perfected Clear-vision Ventilation. See this car today and drive it at the first opportunity.

OUTSTANDING IMPROVEMENTS IN THE NEW FORD V-8

BETTER PERFORMANCE. Greater power, new speed, quicker acceleration, smoother performance, more miles per gallon especially at higher speeds, and quicker starting in cold weather—all these result from the new dual carburetor and dual intake manifold. New water-temperature thermostats enable the engine to warm up more quickly and to maintain an efficient operating temperature. Added engine refinements reduce oil consumption, further improve operating economy and reduce maintenance costs.

NEW VENTILATION SYSTEM permits clear vision, prevents drafts and provides desired amount of fresh air in any weather. Individual control for front and rear side windows. When ventilation is desired the window glass is raised to the top. Then the handle is given an additional half-turn. This slides the glass back horizontally to form a narrow slot. Through this slot air is drawn out by the forward motion of the car. This simple ventilation system maintains draft-free circulation, insures passenger comfort, prevents fogging windshield in cold or stormy weather. Both windshield and cowl ventilator can be opened to supply additional air needed for comfortable warm-weather driving.

DISTINCTIVE NEW APPEARANCE enhanced by the newly designed chromium-plated radiator shell and grille, new hood louvers, new hub caps. Interiors are attractive, with new tufted upholstery, new moldings, new cove-type headlining, new instrument panel, new arm rests, new hardware. Swivel-type sun visors in De Luxe bodies prevent glare from front or side.

FENDERS IN COLOR. On De Luxe cars fenders are in color to harmonize with body colors—wheel colors optional. New enamel finish on all bodies and fenders has greater wearing quality and more enduring luster.

GREATER RIDING COMFORT results from increased spring flexibility. The spring leaves are newly designed for quieter and easier action. Shock absorbers are improved. Seat cushions are deeper, with new, softer springs. New type, individual bucket seats provide increased comfort for front-seat passengers in the Tudor Sedan. Adding to comfort is the new driving ease of the 15-to-1 steering gear ratio.

PRICES REMAIN LOW—Tudor Sedan, $535. Coupe, $515. Fordor Sedan, $585. De Luxe Tudor, $575. De Luxe Fordor, $625. De Luxe Coupe (5 windows), $555. De Luxe Coupe (3 windows), $555. Post Master Glover Receives Letter From Post Master General

Postmaster James A. Farley, has addressed a communication to Post Master H. C. Glover urging to partons of postoffice care in addressing mail. During the year 1932, he says, there were 170,000,000 pieces of such mail deposited in the postoffice of the country, of which over 17,000,000 pieces reached the Division of Dead Letters and Dead Parcels Post and the dead-letter branches thereof and in this dead letter mail thus poorly or insufficiently addressed were found more than $90,000 in cash.

Post Master Glover in turn asks that all mail be properly addressed, giving full name and street as well as town and State address. Write plainly. Spell out names of States. Do not use abbreviations. Miss. is often taken for Miss? or Mass. and Va. often taken for Pa., etc.

Rev. H. N. Aldrich, former Episcopal rector at Pass Christian, died at Cleveland Sunday night. He was in charge of the Pass two years, from 1929.

Pupils Given Free Lunch Every Day.

THE undernourished children of Sellers School are given daily lunches, supplying all basic body needs, free of cost, under a nutrition program, worked out for the state by representatives of the State Board of Public Welfare and the State Extension Service.

The Home Economics Department is being used for the preparation of the food and the home economics teacher is assisting with the menus. The diet consists principally of milk, fresh fruit, green vegetables, and sandwiches. One hot dish is served daily such as soup, stews, and chocolate.

The lunches are being served in the class rooms after the other children have been dismissed for noon. Children who are able are asked by the supervisors to pay ten cents which covers the cost for their lunch.

Evening classes are being conducted at Sellers school every Wednesday evening at six o'clock.

During this month pine needle craft has been studied by the women. The attendance has been splendid and great interest has been manifested in the work. All women of the community are urged to attend. Those present at the meeting were: Mesdames J. C. Breland, J. E. Smith, Chanley Smith, W. E. Shaw, Francis Shaw, J. A. Dedeaux, Josephine Lizana, Frank Shaw, Smith Shaw, Marshall Spiers, Robert Shaw, Lillie Ladner, E. M. Dedeaux, M. A. Harlel, and Miss Docia Necaise.

Evening class number two is being organized at Necaise Crossing. All women in that vicinity are asked to attend. A meeting was held Saturday at Mrs. Florence Sautiers. The object of the meeting was the canning of pork. The following women were present and appeared greatly interested: Mesdames Florence Sautiers, Willie Ladner, Luther Sautiers, A. C. Sniers, and J. E. Smith. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Willie Ladner's, Tuesday, January 2.

The Home Economics Teacher, Mrs. Melva Hogan, attended the District Home Economics Conference held at the Gulfport High School.

Nagging Pains are Warning Signals

TEMPORARY pain relief remedies may save you much suffering at the moment, but putting a mask over a warning signal does not clear up the condition it was telling you to avoid.

When periodic pains, due to a weak, run-down condition, distress you, treatment for the cause of the trouble should be started without delay. Take Careful to build up against the nagging symptoms of ordinary womanly ailments. So many women praise CAREFUL. It must be good to have the widespread use that it has today. Sold at drug stores. Try it!

Mosquito Fight On Cat and Ship Islands To Be Prosecuted

Mosquito work on Cat and Ship islands under CWA direction was inaugurated this week when more than 300 men were transported to the islands on five power boats. The system of drainage which has been planned will require several weeks to complete, it was announced. The workers will be brought back and forth from the islands daily during the progress of the work.

The men are brought to and from Gulfport.

Money talks, and the oldest, raggedest and most battered piece speaks with much the same authority as the newest piece from the mint.

MRS. EDW. C. CARRERE'S BEAUTIFUL LUNCHEON. BBIDGE LAST THURSDAY.

MRS. Edw. C. Carrere was hostess on Thursday afternoon of last week at a luncheon bridge in compliment to Mrs. H. C. Glover on the occasion of the latter's natal anniversary.

Four tables of contract bridge was the event of the latter part of the delightful afternoon, with the results of high scores for Mrs. Geo. R. Rea, Mrs. Leo Ellsworth Kenney, while Mrs. R. Kagan received the cut prize.

Enjoying the hospitality of this ideal and unusually popular hostess were, in addition to the honoree, Mrs. Glover, Mrs. Leo Ellsworth Kenney, Mrs. Chas. G. Moreau, Mrs. Ralph Rugan, Mrs. John W. Bryan, Mrs. Auguste Carrere, Mrs. Geo. R. Rea, Mrs. Edm. F. Fahey, Mrs. G. E. Ferchaud, Mrs. F. J. Bopp, Mrs. Kenneth W. Pepperdene, Mrs. John G. Green, Sr., Mrs. S. A. Power, Mrs. John A. Green, Jr., Miss Margaret Green.

Dainty gifts expressing friendship and general esteem were part of the surprise for Mrs. Glover on the occasion.

The Christmas spirit and atmosphere was represented in the motif of decoration which typified all that is of the Yule Tide, with red and green as the predominating colors. Attractive favors of unusual selection were presented to each guest during the luncheon.

MRS. JOS. SCHARFF ENTERTAINS THURSDAY AFTERNOON BRIDGE CLUB.

Mrs. Joseph R. Scharff, one of the younger matrons and a popular hostess was guest last week to the Thursday Afternoon Bridge Club at her home in Carroll avenue, to which an extra table of guests were present adding to the occasion. Christmas colors marked the scheme of decoration, which was carried out to the most minute detail. The Thursday Club is one of the several local bridge clubs that carries on with success and each week is eagerly anticipated.

ROBERT SCHARFF HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY ON FIFTH ANNIVERSARY.

Robert Scharff celebrated his fifth birthday Tuesday afternoon at the Carroll avenue residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Scharff in a manner most enjoyable and appropriate to the Christmas season.

A Christmas tree was the center of attraction and Santa Claus in person gave greetings of good cheer and gave to each of the guests a gift accompanied with a piece of substantial sweetmeat.

Decorations were in keeping and every attention dear to the children's heart was not overlooked. Every child left extremely delighted with the pleasures of the unforgettable afternoon and Robert will never have a more memorable birthday party of the many more we wish him.

STANISLAUS COLLEGIANS ENJOY SUPPER DANCE ON EVE CHRISTMAS WEEK.

The supper dance given Monday night at St. Stanislaus College by the Athletic Association, under the direction of Bro. Casimir, of the faculty, was of the outstanding social events for the younger set this week. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Edw.

C. Carrere, Mrs. Edm. F. Fahey, Mrs. E. J. Bopp, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Grevenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heath. Bro. William, president, was toastmaster and presided with that successful manner and becomingness that contributed the major share to the function. The collegians and their guests need not join this occasion in their memory books. They will never forget it, remaining as it will, for ever on memory's walls.

DR. AND MRS. A. P. SMITH'S PRE-CHRISTMAS PARTY AT THEIR BEACH DWELLING.

Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Smith, as is their annual custom, entertained some fifty or more guests Saturday night at their colonial and palatial home on Central Beach Boulevard on the occasion of the approach of Christmas.

The party was given a little ahead of time due to the fact that the Doctor and Mrs. Smith will spend the holidays in Florida, visiting the Poinsettia and Bougainvillea bedecked State during this particular season.

Mrs. Smith was assisted in receiving by her daughter, Mrs. Charles Clark of Gulfport, and others. The refreshment was principally of delicious eggnog served at intervals during the evening, a large bowl setting in the center of the dining room table which had been especially decorated with Xmas colors for the occasion.

An outstanding feature of the decoration was a Christmas tree of some size, covered with almost numberless multi-colored lighted globes of deep and vibrant shades.

Out-of-town guests added to the local number. It was the largest party of the season. One of much beauty and general charm.

MISS IRMA KOCH OF BAY CITY BECOMES BRIDE OF W. J. JEFFRIES.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Koch announce the marriage of their daughter, Irma and William T. Jeffries, of Gulfport, Saturday night, December 16, at the Gulfport Methodist parsonage with Rev. P. M. Caraway, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating. Miss La Verne Caperton of Bay St. Louis and Hattiesburg and Mr. Fox of Hattiesburg were the attendants.

The bride wore an ensemble in brown and green with brown accessories. Mr. Jeffries former Bay St. Louis resident is now connected with the State Welfare Board, in Beat 2, Harrison county. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Jeffries are residing on Carroll avenue with the bride's parents.

The contracting parties are by no means strangers here. The charming young bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Koch, former residents of Logtown, but for the past several years citizens of Bay St. Louis, is well and popularly known along the coast and has been one of the more attractive and popular members of the younger set.

The groom, of Gulfport, too, has spent several years here, an attaché of the Mississippi Power Company and is a splendid and most exemplary young man, and, like his lovely and accomplished young wife, is exceedingly popular where known. Both parties have many friends by reason of their friendliness and cordiality. Congratulations and best wishes.

The Gulf Coast Military academy and Gulf Park college have each recessed for the Christmas holidays. Both schools will reopen January 4.

THE HANDY PISTOL AGAIN.

(N. O. Morning Tribune.)

A BATON ROGUE creamery worker drinks, goes home, and starts a row which ends in the death of a woman neighbor, and a bullet through his own brain. We shall read of many crimes like these in the months to come—in the years to come, if we continue to fail to prevent them. You can't prevent addled men and women from drinking poisons that make some of them quarrelsome and dangerous to themselves and society—prohibition proved that neither laws, nor millions of dollars, nor any army of police, all working together, can keep alcohol away from those who want it. We can prevent the free and easy sale of pistols, revolvers, rifles and shotguns to all and sundry, including large and well-organized professional criminal classes and the much larger class of irresponsibles, habitual troublemakers and nitwits. When by concerted Federal and State action we have put the brakes on the gun-traffic, we shall have reduced considerably our death toll from such stupid, needless tragedies as this one at Baton Rouge.

The Christmas carnival given by the Young Men's Business Club at the Great Southern Hotel at Gulfport for the benefit of the Herald Doll and Toy Fund and other charities netted $368.87.

The Government will yet run out of its supply from the alphabet for the designation of its various relief set-ups. It is possible to use numerals. So long as the funds don't give out.

THANKS.

We wish to extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks to friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown during the illness and death of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Secessia Doby. Many thanks for the beautiful floral offerings, all have our everlasting gratitude.

DOBY FAMILY.
